

Eikon Evo and Tactil: luxury and sophisticated technology.

Elegance, excellence, value: there is no single idea of luxury. It is a world of many interpretations that is constantly evolving. And when we talk about energy, this world is Eikon, where every idea of luxury finds its ideal expression: technological, chic, sophisticated, essential. The two souls of Eikon, Evo and Eikon Exé, give each environment a unique personality for superlative energy management.

The design of Eikon Evo in particular responds to the latest interior design trends and brings out the best of Italian style, offering a perfect match with the Eikon Tactil cover plates, which are distinguished by fine presence-sensitive touch technology. Shapes designed to be noticed, sizes which delicately stand out on the walls, unprecedented colours and combinations in an elegant chrome frame. Its silhouette is impeccable, light and slim, with eight different ways of being and experiencing luxury, available in a variety of materials and prized finishes, from stone, to metal, wood and glass; it blends in seamlessly with any environment to create an original look every time, with stylish details that define the identity and personality of each environment.

Eikon Evo controls are available in three timeless colours to match the different cover plate finishes and materials, or in white, anthracite grey and Next for a total look effect.

Also available in the KNX and By-me Plus version for home&building automation, with Eikon, Vimar meets the highest standards of elegance, for luxury combined with technology and innovation.
